

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A printer is connected to a portable communication terminal which is accessible to a server device on a network. The printer comprises an interface connected
5 to the portable communication terminal, and an access device accessing to the server device by a circuit connection function of the portable communication terminal and downloading data registered in advance in the server device by the portable communication
10 terminal.

09940822.082701